WINTER LOCK-IN

The complete 90-day program — every split, every session, every set already laid out. This is the exact framework from the carousel, filled in for you. Pick your track, follow the monthly plan, beat last week's numbers. That's the whole job.

13 WEEKS · TRACK A: 4 DAYS (UPPER/LOWER) · TRACK B: 3 DAYS (FULL BODY)

01 How the 90 days work

Three months, three jobs. Each month gets slightly harder — more sets, then closer to failure — while the exercises never change. You add reps every week; when you hit the top of a rep range on every set, add a little weight and start the climb again.

| Phase | Weeks | Compound sets | Isolation sets | Effort (stop…) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| MONTH 1 — Build the base | 1–4 | 3 per exercise | 2 per exercise | 3–4 reps short of failure |
| DELOAD | 5 | half the sets | half the sets | same weights, everything easy |
| MONTH 2 — Add a set | 6–9 | 4 per exercise | 3 per exercise | 2–3 reps short of failure |
| DELOAD | 10 | half the sets | half the sets | same weights, everything easy |
| MONTH 3 — Top of the band | 11–13 | 4 per exercise | 3 per exercise | 1–2 reps short of failure |

> The weekly rule: beat last week's reps on every set. Bench 3×6–10 — week 1 you get 6, 6, 6. Week 2, 7, 7, 6. When you hit 10, 10, 10, add a little weight and start over at 6s. Write every set down (notes app, notebook, whatever) — that's how you know it's working.

02 Pick your track

| | Track A — Upper/Lower | Track B — Full Body |
|---|---|---|
| Days | 4 per week — Mon / Tue / Thu / Fri | 3 per week — Mon / Wed / Fri |
| Best for | You can train 4 days and want the fastest route | 3 days is what your schedule gives you |
| Session length | ~55–70 min | ~60–75 min |

Both tracks use the same monthly plan from section 01. Do one warm-up set of the first exercise per muscle before each session — light, never counted as work.

| 2 | Barbell Row | 3 × 6–10 | 2 min | Alt: chest-supported row if lower back is beat |
| 3 | Machine Shoulder Press | 3 × 6–10 | 2 min | Want more chest? Swap for incline DB press |
| 4 | DB Lateral Raise | 2 × 10–15 | 2 min | Lighter than ego wants — control it |

| 3 | Seated Calf Raise | 2 × 10–15 | 2 min | |

05 The rules that make it work

When to change exercises: you mostly don't

> Don't swap exercises every month. If your numbers are still climbing, change nothing. Swap only when a lift has been stuck for 4–6 weeks — same reps, same weight, no progress. Novelty feels productive; progression is productive.

Deload weeks (5 and 10)

Half the sets, same weights, everything feels easy. You're letting your body catch up, not pushing for records — in week 6, go right back to the weights you were using in week 4.

If a whole week goes bad

Missed sleep, work blew up, or two rough sessions in a row — just repeat the previous week instead of pushing forward. Never add extra exercises to "make up" for missed sessions.

Want more of a specific muscle?

From month 2 onward, you may swap one exercise per session for a different one that hits the muscle you care about most (e.g., incline press in place of shoulder press on Upper 2 for more chest). One swap — not a rebuild. The volume table below shows where you have room.

06 Weekly volume audit (Track A, month 3)

Working sets (not warm-ups) per muscle per week, counted directly plus the help they get from shared exercises. The growth sweet spot is 10–20 sets.

| Muscle | Direct | + Indirect | Total | Verdict |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Quads | 8 | +2 | 10 | In the sweet spot |
| Hamstrings | 7 | +2 | 9 | In the sweet spot (lower end — on purpose) |
| Chest | 4 | +4 | 8 | Below the sweet spot — use the chest swap in section 5 if chest is a priority |
| Back (lats/upper) | 8 | +2 | 10 | In the sweet spot |
| Side delts | 6 | +6 | 12 | In the sweet spot |
| Triceps | 3 | +9 | 12 | In the sweet spot |
| Biceps | 3 | +4 | 7 | Lower end — fine for most; arms-focused lifters add curls in month 2+ |
| Calves | 6 | | 6 | Enough to keep them growing slowly; add a set in month 3 if calves matter to you |

> Track B lands similarly (~10–14 sets for the big muscles). Full body days spread volume thinner per session but frequency is higher, which evens out over the week.

07 Your 13-week calendar

| Wk | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 | 10 | 11 | 12 | 13 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Phase | MONTH 1 — 3 sets · 3–4 short | | | | DELOAD | MONTH 2 — 4 sets · 2–3 short | | | | DELOAD | MONTH 3 — 4 sets · 1–2 short | | |

Same exercises all 13 weeks. Only the sets and effort change — and your rep numbers climb.
